"It is a tremendous honor to be included as a 2025 Top Workplace and a finalist for the notable BBB Torch Award," said Jennifer Rappaport, CEO of EFG Companies. "Both distinctions reflect our culture of empowerment that fanatically strives for excellence. Both recognitions are employee-driven and truly speak to the expert team at EFG that comes to work every day, engaging intensely to drive profitable results for our clients and a positive experience for our contract holders."

These new accolades add to the numerous honors received by EFG Companies. 2025 marks the eleventh consecutive year that the company has been recognized with multiple awards for national excellence. EFG has now received 15 Gold Stevies® from the American Business Awards, the company has been a BBB-accredited business since 2009, and has maintained an A+ BBB rating, and EFG was just awarded platinum and gold Titan awards, recognizing the company's dedication to delivering profits for its clients. These awards reflect the company's dedication to setting a high bar in the consumer protection product industry for client engagement and overall customer experience.

These awards also reflect the remarkable business expansion success EFG has achieved in 2025, breaking year-over-year historical records for growth. Combined, these honors underscore that EFG's people, principles, and performance are driving a new standard of success for the organization.

The Dallas Morning News, in partnership with Medium Giant, collaborates with Energage, LLC, an independent research firm, to conduct the annual Top Workplaces DFW survey. This survey assesses workplace culture through key areas such as alignment, connection, leadership, and engagement.

The BBB Torch Awards for Ethics honor companies that lead with integrity, trust, and a people-first mindset. These awards celebrate marketplace role models who set the standard for doing business the right way. Since 2000, the BBB has honored businesses of all sizes that meet the highest standard of ethics and trust among their employees, customers, and local communities – embodying BBB's mission to advance marketplace trust.
